COMMERCIAL. FEIDAY, MARCH 21, 1679 THERE has been but little of commercial interest traspiring to note for the past week, trade generalty being rather quiet, and the money market decidedly siribgent, Steamer week, as this has been, fully tested this and the question of Exchange, and found both to be on a per, not slowly and surely revealing itself that there is not workslowly and surely revealing itself that there is not working capital enough in the Islands to carry on the various extensions that has been entered into since the passage of the Treaty, more particularly in the sugar industry.
This situation was anticipated by many in the community, but we learn of no real effort having been put forth to induce foreign capital to come in until now, and we earnestly trust that the steps taken by some of our leading people toward this end will meet with success, firmly believing that it only needs to be thoroughly known abroad of the anfety of investments here to induce capital to come in. This has been the expression of several tourists and men of mind from abroad, who have noticed with surprise the yields of our cane fields compared with other countries.
